FRIDAY.....DECEMBER 16, 1887.

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1888,

JAMES G. BLAINE,

OF MAINE.

Subject to the decision of the Republican National Convention.

"We always have the American flag above us and not below us."—James G. Blaine.

OUR YIELD OF BULLION.

The San Francisco Call says:

Perhaps the most interesting item in the department reports is the statement in the Interior Department report of the yield of the precious metals in the Territories. It must be assumed that Mr. Lamar took his figures from authentic sources, but they certainly show a most surprising increase in the yield since last year. To enable the reader to understand this we give the following table, showing the estimates of the Interior Department for 1887 and the returns of the Director of the Mint for 1885:

TERRITORIES.	Yield 1886 from Mint Report.	Yield 1887 from Sec'y's Report.
Arizona.....	$ 4,510,000	$ 6,103,378
New Mexico.....	2,700,000	3,850,000
Dakota.....	3,125,000	3,125,000
Montana	16,835 000	26,000,000
Idaho.....	5,400,000	7,460,000
Utah.....	6,716,000	6,071,000
Totals	$39,376,000	$52,629,000
Increase..		$13 253,378

This is equivalent to an increase of thirty-three per cent. in a single year, and if it be real it cannot fail to have an important effect on the development of the Territories.

In 1886 the total yield of the precious metals in the whole United States was given by the Director of the Mint at $86,190,500. In that return California was credited with $16,129,000; it will probably do as well as this in 1887. Colorado is set down for $20,150,000. It will do better this year, possibly by two or three millions. Nevada is allowed $8,000,000, it ought this year to yield $12,000,000. Assuming that these three States increased their output in 1887 by $6,500,000, the total yield of the country would foot up something like $106,000,000, nearly twenty-five per cent. in excess of the heaviest previous yield, and thirty-five per cent. in excess of the yield for 1880. The world's production of the precious metals is usually reckoned at from $220,000,000 to $230,000,000. At our present rate of progress this country will, in 1895, produce nearly half of the whole, with a result upon our commerce and industries which can easily be figured.

NEVADA'S FUTURE.

The Carson Tribune says:

It is a patent fact that hitherto the people of this State have been to a great extent their own worst enemies. Particularly does the statement apply to those of Ormsby and Douglas counties. There has been no unanimity of sentiment or action, and jealousy has prevailed to such an extent that a proposition made concerning any improvement has ever been looked on with jealous eyes. Business men who had made money here did not think of improving property and so help the town, but invested it in Alameda county and other California places, and some that could be mentioned were always ahead in denunciation of what they were pleased to term remorseless corporations.

It is true we have the finest climate on the face of the globe, but something more than that is needed to make the State what it might and ought to become, and the grand proposition now before the people the only means by which Nevada can become a recognized agricultural State, is the procuring of water for irrigating purposes; that secured, the orange-growing land of Southern California and fruit producing districts of the northern foot-hills would, in five years, sink into insignificance, for we can produce what they cannot.

The coming year is an off-Senatorial one and it will stand our people in hand to elect no man to either house of the Legislature who is not only a progressive individual and property owner, but who shall pledge himself to make the irrigation question paramount to every other.

The mining interests never wore a better aspect, but to cause immigration to our State; to bring the practical farmers with their families hereto, means for irrigation must be assured, and it behooves every newspaper in the State to keep the subject matter before the people and demand the election of such men to the Legislative halls as can be depended on in this very important affair.

Senator Stanford has removed Mahone's son from the Clerkship of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee, and given the place to McCarthy, one of his Secretaries.

Ex-Land Commissioner Sparks is in Washington, and is accused of engineering a fight against the confirmation of Secretary Lamar to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

White Pine county boasts of having a Long Term Commissioner who never attends a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, and who has his salary sent him regularly.

Gen. Phil. Sheridan is said to be coming to the front as a Presidential candidate. Should he be nominated by the Republicans he would be elected by a large majority.

James G. Blaine and Levi P. Morton were received by President Carnot Monday. They were presented by Minister McLane.

NEW POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

This, from the San Francisco Alta, is interesting:

Mr. Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan, who succeeds General Vilas at the head of the General Postoffice, is the youngest member of the Cabinet, for he has just entered his fortieth year. He is at an age when learning and experience are just applied to their best use, for they are joined to the first flush of a man's physical prime. He has ample learning and all the accomplishments of statesmanship, and these are guided by a most useful experience in the leadership of men in his State, and an enlarging association with the leading minds of the country. He has those qualities of courage and sincerity, loyalty to his friends and his convictions, which are something more than the mere graces of a public character, since they are the tests of its depth and its endurance.

He succeeds an excellent administrative officer, of tireless energy, and brings to the control of that branch of the Government business which has the widest contact with the people, an organizing faculty which will be equal to the great demands upon it that the rapid development of the West will create during the next eighteen months.

The President is fortunate, inasmuch as the Cabinet changes compelled the introduction of new material, in the selection of Mr. Dickinson. The expansion of which we speak will make necessary soon the use of all the discretion lodged with the Postmaster-General consistent with prudent economy in the increase of postal facilities to accommodate the rapid transfer of population to the country west of the Missouri river. In some respects this discretion of his department is limited by the necessity of Congressional co-operation, and when such limit is found to embarrass the public and deprive the people of needed facilities, Congress may rely upon the wisdom, propriety and necessity of his recommendations. His policy will be that of the Administration, which means that it will be prudent and vigorous.

In private life Mr. Dickinson has achieved a double career. He made early conquest of all the honors of the legal profession, in which he was of the foremost rank in his State, where a lawyer has to be the peer of Cooley and Joy to be rated first-class. To this he added a triumphant business career, which, by legitimate and honorable processes, won for him an independent fortune. To these two he now begins the addition of a third success in public life, and that it will be won we have no doubt.

His position in the party has all the time been that of a firm believer in the leadership of the President, and a fearless propagation of his principles and policies.

It is told of him that when the chaplain of a Michigan Democratic Convention alluded in his prayer to many by-gone leaders of the party, and closed with no mention of the President, Mr. Dickinson rose amongst the delegates, and, with uplifted hand, added: "God bless and save and keep that Democrat of Democrats, the noblest of them all, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States." And therein he uttered the heartfelt wish of his party everywhere.

Another incident will illustrate his address and fidelity. Since it was rumored that he was to be Postmaster-General he attended a banquet in Detroit and was called on to respond to the toast, "To the Postmaster-General," intended to be personal to himself, in the hope of drawing from him some admission of the truth of the rumor. He responded with his usual readiness, in a compliment to the great State of Wisconsin and to her distinguished citizen, who had from the beginning of the administration so wisely and so ably administered the office of Postmaster-General. The friendly conspirators who had sought to draw him out had to admit his greater wisdom.

He is the fourth citizen of Michigan to enter the Cabinet. It is perhaps forgotten by the general reader that Michigan furnished Cass to the Cabinet of Jackson while it was yet a territory, and the present States of Iowa and Wisconsin were two of its counties. We believe it the only case in our history in which a citizen of a territory entered the Cabinet. After serving Jackson as Secretary of War he was called in Buchanan's Cabinet as Secretary of State twenty-five years later.

In 1853 Mr. Pierce appointed Robert McClelland, who had been twice Governor of Michigan, to be Secretary of the Interior, and in 1875 Gen. Grant gave the same position to Mr. Zachariah Chandler.

When Cass entered the Cabinet he was 49, McClelland was 45, and Chandler was 61. Mr. Dickinson therefore is the youngest of the four, and is their peer in all the elements of fitness for the great trust which he assumes.

Professor C. S. Young is making a sojourn in Carson and shaking hands with his many friends at the Capital. He is full of energy and enthusiasm over his colonization scheme at what will probably be known as "Rio Benito." The tract consists of 2,600 to 2,700 acres of the finest quality of land. He states that there are live oaks there which measure 36 feet in circumference. This evidences the great strength of the soil. We wish that every success may attend upon his energy and enterprise.—Carson Index-Union.

The Enterprise says:

If the Democratic free traders place lead on the free list, as they threaten to do, it will be as disastrous to the lead-producing mines of Nevada as Cleveland's policy has been to the silver mines.
